learning, and develop deep math, logic, and problem solving skills. Students must be located in the Reno/Sparks area and in grades 7-12 (grade skips are not counted). Students practice on most Sunday afternoons throughout the school year. Upper level team coaches are volunteers, typically college math instructors. Students are required to contribute time towards improving the local math community and NNVMath, most do this by volunteering at math camps. Students who show they have earned a spot on the team to compete in the ARML team based math competition, are invited to join the official team. While 35-40 students participated in this program in some form during this program year, only 21 were invited to join the official team.

Contests: We offer 6-monthly, social, team-based math contests for grades 1-12 as part of our MathRocks! series, plus a similarly formatted State of Nevada Championship. All of those are written in-house; students who live outside the Reno/Sparks area, ill, in quarantine, or not comfortable going in public due to covid were able to participate online. Additionally, we license contests from other sources and are an official testing site for still other contests to allow area students the opportunity to participate in them. These contests include Mathematics Olympiad Elementary & Middle School (MOEMS); AMCs 8, 10, and 12 through the Mathematics Association of America; Continental Mathematics League (CML) for grades 2-9; Mathematics League high school; American Scholastic Mathematics Association (ASMAs); and others. 168 unique students registered in these programs with 37.5 percent being female. This was down from our typical female participate numbers. 69 students

Form 990-EZ, Part III, Line 30, Program Service Accomplishments:

Instruction includes camps and classes: We hold several week long in-person math camps each summer and several online classes as our Competition Team members would like to run. Camps are typically for students entering grades 2-7 and topics included number theory, geometry, algebra, and counting. In 2021-22, we also provided math supplemental programming for 21st Century after school programs at low-income schools. Instruction included bi-weekly instruction/activities with materials for off weeks provided for their staff.

23 of 53 unique students were female at camps, for 43 percent, however most of the girl attended more than 1 week of camp, resulting in high female participation rates at each individual camp in June of 2022 (one week registered at 83% female). 172 students were served regularly through the 21st Century program. Demographic breakdown was not provided to us.
